

Active Learning

As professors, our preferred methods of teaching and the methods that achieve the best results for student learning some times vary. This workshop will highlight the benefits of active learning and student-centered instruction as well as identify several strategies for achieving these methods. We will take an instructor-centered lesson plan and workshop how to modify the plan so that it centers the student and actively involves them in their own learning. Faculty may bring a lesson plan they want to make more student-centered or may work with a lesson plan provided. In either case be ready to take an active part in this learning experience.
